NEW RELATIONSHIP WITH EGYPT MARKS SIGNING OF TREATY

British Military Occupation Ends and Is Replaced
By Close Alliance—Mutual Concessions to Be Made in Time of War—Defence of Suez Canal Is Provided

LONDON, Aug. 27.—After fifty years of strife, Great Britain wins in Egypt a new friend. That is the one dominant fact which runs through the Anglo-Egyptian Treaty signed in the Locarno room of the Foreign Office yesterday. Text of the treaty will be made public tomorrow.

The British military occupation of Egypt ends. The period of that curious system of semi-independence in which Egypt apparently governed herself but Britain had the final word is closed.

Britain and Egypt now are in alliance. Each country will be represented in the capital of the other by an ambassador. At the Egyptian court, the British ambassador will be senior to other foreign diplomatic representatives.

TO JOIN LEAGUE
Egypt will apply for membership in the League of Nations. Britain will support her application. The rights and obligations of both parties under the League Covenant or the Kellogg-Briand Act are not prejudiced by the Anglo-Egyptian Treaty.

The treaty, which is for a duration of twenty years, comes into force on ratification. Anthony Eden, British Foreign Secretary, gave a pledge in the House of Commons before the Commons adjourned that Britain would not ratify the treaty until Parliament had an opportunity for debate. Ratification, therefore, is continued on Page 3, Column 4.

DEATH REMOVES U.S. MINISTER

Secretary of War George H. Dern Succumbs After Prolonged Illness

WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Army guns throughout the land and half-way around the world were firing in mourning tomorrow for George H. Dern, Secretary of War.

The sixty-four-year-old Cabinet officer, who made a fortune in mining and twice was Governor of Utah before President Roosevelt appointed him as the army's chief, died at 10:55 a.m. today in Walter Reed Hospital. He had been taken there on July 12 after falling ill while inspecting army engineering projects.

MILITARY SERVICES
Military funeral services will be conducted in Mount Pleasant Congregational Church here on Saturday. Accompanied by high officials and a guard of honor, the secretary's body will be taken there by special train to Salt Lake City for burial.

President Roosevelt, who received word of the death at an unscheduled stop on his Western tour, will attend the Masonic burial services on Tuesday.

The cause of Dern's death was described in a War Department announcement as cardiac and kidney complications, following a severe lack of influenza, which weakened his entire physical condition.

Mrs. Dern and her two daughters and three sons were at his bedside when he died. He had been attended by two army physicians and a European heart specialist, summoned by the President.

Vancouver Police Searching for Men Seen Before Fire

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—With investigations still continuing into the $600,000 fire, which swept Vancouver's west end waterfront last week, destroying the ice arena and other buildings, police revealed tonight they were searching for the occupants of two automobiles seen to leave the scene shortly before the fire broke out.

The officers refused, however, to reveal what connection they believe the occupants of the cars to have with the disastrous fire.

Big Increase Shown In Tourist Trade of Victoria This Year

Publicity Bureau Directors Find 55.2 Per Cent
More Automobiles and 60 Per Cent More Passengers for Seven-Month Period to Aug. 1

STARTLING figures on 1936 tourist trade were disclosed by George I. Warren, publicity commissioner, during a meeting of directors of the Publicity Bureau yesterday afternoon. Mayor David Leeming presided.

An increase of 55.2 per cent in automobiles and 60 per cent in passengers to Victoria, was shown for the period from January 1 to August 1 over the corresponding period last year. At the same time the Mainland showed 26.1 per cent more automobiles and 29 per cent more tourists. During the past three years there had been an increase of 200 per cent in automobiles visiting Victoria. Mr. Warren told directors.

Automobiles visiting the city included 2,447 from California, 1,571 from Washington, 596 from Oregon, 271 from Idaho, one from Alaska and one from Montana. Foreign automobiles included 79 per cent foreign automobiles and 20 per cent Canadian. Mr. Warren estimated Victoria's 1936 tourist season would equal that of 1929, if the present heavy rate of travel was maintained.

RARE ICE CAVES FOUND BY GUIDE

L. Rossiter Discovers Freak
Formation Atop Mount
Albert Edward

Ice caves were discovered for the first time last week on Vancouver Island high on the shoulder of Mount Albert Edward, by Len Rossiter, widely-known guide, it was reported here last night by C. S. Wood, of the Forbidden Plateau Lodge.

Mr. Wood said that Mr. Rossiter was with a party last week and while "just looking around," found the caves. He was unable to say how many there were but some had entrances, eighteen feet high. Mr. Rossiter returned immediately to his base at Marwood Lake Camp, which is conducted in connection with the lodge, and secured a camera to photograph the caves.

Although Mr. Rossiter had been guiding on the mountain for more than six years, this was the first time he noticed the caves.

Much publicity is given to the ice caves of several United States mountains, and they are noted as tourist attractions. However, this is the first time any have been discovered on Vancouver Island.

Mr. Wood reported an exceptionally good season at the lodge. He said plans were now being made for a series of winter sports at the Plateau.

LOYALISTS IN SURPRISE MARCH NEARING SEAT OF REBEL JUNTA

Northern Spanish Insurgent Commander Manoeuvring Forces Rapidly to Check Advancing Columns—Rebels Report Bombing Madrid Airport—Opposing Forces Deadlocked

BRIVIESCA, Spain, Aug. 28.—Spanish Government troops were making a surprise march on rebel-held Burgos today and General Emilio Mola, northern insurgent commander, moved his forces rapidly in an attempt to check the Loyalist columns.

A body of 2,000 members of the Loyalist peoples' front militia had fought its way to a point less than twenty-five miles from Burgos, the seat of the Rebel Junta.

The Government troops had forced marches from their base at Santander. Rebel regulars and militiamen were packed into trucks at Burgos and sped northward. Insurgent officers, said they hoped to face the Loyalists near Cubillo Del Rojo.

LITTLE OPPOSITION
The Government troops had advanced more than twelve miles with little opposition, as the rebels apparently did not expect them and kept few troops in the area.

Some rebel officers said the Loyalist column was a serious threat, as it might be necessary to move insurgents now fighting on the Madrid front to stop their advance.

(Santana, from which the Government fighters were advancing, is about eighty miles north of Burgos on the Bay of Biscay. Burgos, where the rebels set up a government and proclaimed General Miguel Cabanellas president, is about 150 miles north of Madrid.)

WOUNDED BY WORRY OVER SPANISH WAR

POPE PIUS XI
Reported Distressingly Weak and Retiring to Sanctuary for Respiratory Service

VATICAN CITY, Aug. 27.—Pope Pius XI was so distressingly weakened tonight from worry over Spanish bloodshed that prelates feared he soon might be unable to walk.

Illness of the Holy Father, who was seventy-nine years old on May 31, was disclosed after preparations were made for an expository service in St. Peter's for the death of priests and nuns and the destruction of churches in Spain.

It was planned for the Pope to attend the services assisted by all the cardinals now resident in Rome. Plans also were made for the Pope to receive Spanish churchmen who fled to Italy for safety. At that time he was to protest against the sacrifices of civil war.

LITTLE STRENGTH
Priests and physicians have sought to persuade him to conserve his strength, but yesterday a three-hour conversation with Eugenio Cardinal Tardini, Papal Secretary of State, at Castel Gandolfo concerning the Spanish situation, left His Holiness little strength to continue other duties.

The Pope's ailment was said by a high prelate to be endocarditis, an inflammation of the heart. A medical examination in June, it was said, reached "satisfactory conclusions" concerning his condition.

IMPRESSED BY SCOUT PARADE

Six Hundred Boys Reviewed
By Governor-General in Stanley Park

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—Six hundred eager-faced Vancouver Scouts and Scouts stood rigidly at attention in a tree-shaded playground at Stanley Park today, then sent their cheers ringing across miniature grass parade ground, their welcome to Canada's Chief Scout, Lord Tweedsmuir.

"I am delighted to see such a splendid turnout," the Governor-General told his youthful listeners. "I have been East and West in this country, but I have never seen such a turnout as this."

THOUSANDS WANTED
He appealed for 20,000 additional Scouts.

"There are 20,000 more Scouts needed in Canada before the figure set for this country is reached," he said. "I hope you will increase your numbers."

Later, Lord Tweedsmuir, accompanied by Lady Tweedsmuir and members of the viceregal party, toured Vancouver Harbor aboard the Harbor Board vessel Flapa.

In the afternoon the Governor-General met members of the consular corps, and concluded his day's activities with an inspection of a detachment of South African campaigners.

Twenty-One Soldiers Killed by Bandits Is Report of Japanese

Several Encounters With Manchurian Outlaws
Have Taken Place in Last Two Weeks—Commander Denies Aims in Inner Mongolia

TOKIO, Aug. 28.—(AP).—The Domei (Japanese) News Agency reported today that twenty-one Japanese soldiers had been killed in encounters with Manchurian bandits in the last two weeks.

Bandits estimated to number 800 were said to have surrounded a Japanese company east of Pinhsien on Wednesday, and to have fought a night-long battle which ended yesterday afternoon when Japanese planes from Hsinking came to the aid of the infantrymen.

The Japanese lost seventeen dead, including a captain, in this clash, the report said.

In a conflict on Monday, at Mui-an, 150 bandits were reported to have been driven off after a two-hour fight in which four Japanese were killed. The bandits' losses the dispatch declared, were believed to have been heavy.

WOULD BREAK RUSSIAN PACT

Germany Reported Anxious To Separate France
And Soviet

PARIS, Aug. 27.—(AP).—Germany stands ready to offer France "important concessions," it was reported today, in return for France's agreement to abandon her mutual assistance pact with Soviet Russia.

This report gained circulation as the result of the visit of Dr. Hjalmar Schacht, German Economics Minister, to France for the purpose, it was said, of assuring Premier Leon Blum that Germany's recent increase in army strength was aimed not at France, but as a defence against Russian Communism.

NO CHANGE
It was apparent in official circles, however, the French determination to reinforce defenses had not been changed by any development of Schacht's visit.

Financial circles interpreted it as a mission to bring Chancellor Adolf Hitler's proposal for peace at the price of international credit and colonies for Germany.

Schacht was quoted as having said after conversations with Premier Blum and other Government officials that "the ice is broken."

The Rightist Deputy Jean Monnet asked Edmond Daladier, Vice-Premier and Defense Minister, to speed up the manufacture of armaments and to increase France's military defenses and the number of professional soldiers.

TWENTY ARABS IN PALESTINE SLAIN

JERUSALEM, Aug. 27.—The death of twenty Arabs in three clashes with British troops was reported today by the Government.

Twelve were killed today when an Arab band attacked a military patrol and British reinforced the troops with bombs and machine-gun fire. Four others were killed when troops suppressed shooting and bomb throwing in Jaffa last night, and two were found dead later.

Two others lost their lives in a night of shooting between troops and Arabs near the Tel Aviv air grounds.

Minimum Set on Price of Wheat Based on Market

Dominion Cabinet Approves Continuance of Guarantee of Eighty-Seven and One-Half Cents To Farmer—Will Work Automatically If Quotations Drop Below Ninety Cents

OTTAWA, Aug. 27 (P).—Recommendation of the Canadian wheat board that the minimum price for the 1936-37 crop be fixed at 87½ cents per bushel, was approved by Cabinet council today but conditional upon the closing market level dropping below 90 cents. Announcement was made tonight by Prime Minister Mackenzie King following a session of Cabinet council.

This is the same minimum price fixed by the former Government soon after the wheat board came into existence late last Summer. It guarantees the producer who sells to the board, a minimum of 87½ cents a bushel, with a share in any profits arising from the board disposing of the wheat at a better price.

IS AUTOMATIC

In his announcement, the Prime Minister said the recommendation was approved only to the extent that it becomes automatically effective whenever the closing market price of No. 1 Northern wheat at Port William drops below 90 cents. A drop below 90 cents during the day's trading would not affect the situation if the market improved to a point above that level at closing.

This announcement follows close upon a visit to Ottawa yesterday by James R. Murray, chairman of the wheat board, who was called into consultation by the Cabinet at yesterday's session. It was felt by the Government that to take any other action at the present time might seem to prejudice the findings of the commission headed by Mr. Justice W. F. A. Turgeon, which is now investigating the whole aspect of wheat marketing from every angle.

The effect of the decision will be that the wheat board will not buy any of this year's crop unless the price falls below 90 cents, when it will step in and support the market by buying from the farmers all wheat offered at 87½ cents. In the meantime, farmers wishing to sell will do so on the open market.

tained. He told of a number of recent inquiries from New York, Washington, and Montreal, from persons interested in settling here permanently or coming to the city for long vacations.

PAPER APOLOGIZES

A letter of apology was read from The Vancouver Daily Province for inadvertently calling Vancouver the capital of British Columbia in a recent article. Word was received from C. P. Hill that he was making progress in a Santa Barbara hospital, and hoped to return to the city in the near future.

Robert Davis, of The New York Sun, and Mark Woodruff, manager of the Portland Rose show, were welcomed to the meeting by Mayor Leeming.

"Vancouver Island is the most conspicuous spot in the world to advertise and keep before the public. Its fishing and hunting are something to rave about. Wherever I go I recommend the Island to any person wishing a real holiday," said Mr. Davis.

"At Campbell River I saw two Los Angeles sportsmen arrive by seaplane all the way from California, just for a day or two of fishing. If only the rest of the continent knew more about your fishing, there would be a tremendous jump in tourist trade. People in New York simply refuse to believe visitors that local fishermen catch salmon weighing as much as fifty pounds," Mr. Davis stated.

ISLAND'S FUTURE

"I have traveled 800,000 miles in twelve years, and I can truthfully state the future of Vancouver Island lies in telling the world what you have here. You are next to a friendly state and a friendly nation, so there is no reason why visitors should not come here in even greater numbers than they have this Summer," he added.

"It is a terrible thing to decimate Vancouver Island forests. Experience in other parts of the Pacific Northwest has shown that forest decimation only results in towns falling, streams drying up and landscapes being ruined. I hope your Government takes immediate steps to preserve Cathedral Grove, the finest stand of timber I have seen for a long time," Mr. Davis declared.

URGES MORE TROUT

"Every time a tree is cut down a salmon is robbed of a meal. Take 1,000 gallons of water out of a stream and you kill an enormous number of fish. More trout should be planted in streams and lakes on Vancouver Island," he asserted.

"I again urge residents to raise a vigorous protest against destructive logging and lack of reforestation on the Island. You really need flying fields and more places for sportsmen to go after they have had their fill of fishing or golf," Mr. Davis concluded.

Mr. Woodruff told directors more visitors from Portland came to Victoria, year after year, than from any other Pacific Coast state. Dealing with sport fishing, he stated fish traps and seine nets had resulted in the sport being ruined in many parts of the United States. He extended a cordial invitation for Victorians to visit the next annual Portland Rose Show.

Major Gordon Smith prophesied the 1936 tourist season would easily equal those of years prior to 1930. He described heavy travel to other parts of British Columbia, and declared indications pointed to an extremely heavy year in 1937.

COUNCIL TO VIEW PLAN

survey the financial structure and physical assets of Victoria. The surveyor would then bring in his report and in his findings would make clear to the bondholders whether Victoria had a justifiable plea for lower interest rates.

Later, Victoria was approached by a local bond dealer, who was willing to negotiate in an attempt to secure the needed reduction in interest rates. However, the figure quoted then was prohibitive. The Victoria bond dealers at that time met with the City Council on the city budget, and a joint deputation from the two bodies interviewed the Provincial Government.

PREMIER QUILTS STATE MEETING

South Australia Protests Against Action of Hon. Joseph Lyons

ADELAIDE, South Australia, Aug. 27 (P).—A stir was caused at the Australian Premiers' Conference here when R. L. Butler, Premier of South Australia, walked out of the Assembly room today in protest against "high-handed action" by the Commonwealth.

The conference was discussing matters affecting the Commonwealth and the States and their mutual relations.

W. Forgan Smith, Premier of Queensland, moved that a system of excise duties and export bounties should replace the machinery destroyed by a recent judgment of the Privy Council, holding Commonwealth Acts restricting interstate trade in dried fruits invalid.

Commonwealth Prime Minister Joseph Lyons, however, refused to accept the motion for the amendment, contending the Commonwealth should not accept dictation from the states. Butler thereupon walked out.

Butler's amendment was finally rejected, the delegates from South Australia, Western Australia and Tasmania dissenting.

In a statement later, Butler declared: "If this is the attitude the Commonwealth is adopting, it is a pity the conference met."

PARLY WILL BE HELD TOMORROW

Directors of Evergreen Playground Association to Plan 1937 Tourist Drive

Plans for the 1937 programme to attract more tourists to the Pacific Northwest will be considered at a meeting of the directors of the Evergreen Playground Association at Rainier National Park tomorrow. Activities of the past season will also be reviewed.

Representatives of Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle, Bellingham, Tacoma and Portland, cities connected with the organization, will be present.

Victoria will be represented by Mayor David Leeming, G. H. Stevens, president of the Victoria and Island Publicity Bureau, and George I. Warren, publicity commissioner.

The Vancouver delegation will consist of E. H. Adams, vice-president of the B.C. Electric Railway Company and president of the Evergreen Playground Association; Dr. G. H. Worthington, president of the Vancouver Tourist Association; Brenton S. Brown, and Charles H. Webster, Vancouver publicity commissioner.

Canadian Children Drowned in China

SHANGHAI, Aug. 28 (P).—A private telegram from Chengtu today told of the drowning of two Canadian children during the recent disturbances in that region. Their fathers were Rev. G. E. Rackham and Dr. H. B. Collier, both missionaries attached to the United Church of Canada. Details of the tragedy were not given in the telegram.

Representatives of Victoria, Vancouver, Seattle, Bellingham, Tacoma and Portland, cities connected with the organization, will be present.

SERVICE OVER WORLD

It will be broadcast over the Vatican radio station, and Catholics of all the world have been asked to join the ceremony.

Pope Pius, famed for his economic, moral and political announcements of recent years, has been called the "Pope of the Conciliation" because he signed the Lateran accord with Premier Mussolini, making the "Prisoner of the Vatican" free for the first time since the Franco-Russian war of 1870 when Italian troops entered Rome, considered the capital of Christianity, and proclaimed it the capital of Italy.

IMPEDE SALE OF EXAMINER

Strike Blockade in Seattle Extended to San Francisco Paper

SEATTLE, Aug. 27 (P).—The strike blockade of The Seattle Post-Intelligencer, morning newspaper, which failed to publish for the fourteenth consecutive day, prevented the trans-shipment here today of Sunday editions of The San Francisco Examiner, also a Hearst publication.

About 1,500 copies, ordered for Bremerton and delivered to a ferry dock here after being sent north by train, lay untouched on a dock, Captain James M. Fox, secretary of the Ferryboatmen's Union, said he would not allow union members to handle it.

Copies of the same edition were distributed, or expected to arrive shortly in other Pacific Northwest cities.

At Aberdeen, E. E. Weiland, president of the Sawmill and Timber Workers' Union there, said all stores and newspapers, which had handled The Post-Intelligencer would be asked not to handle The Examiner as long as The Post-Intelligencer remains suspended.

MacDonald Opens Exhibition From Across the Ocean

Dominions Secretary Gives Opening Address by Trans-Atlantic Telephone—Speaks on Mutual Trade Between Great Britain and Canada—Praises Dominion's Institutions

TORONTO, Aug. 27.—Recent trade talks between British and Canadian Cabinet Ministers "proved invaluable in creating an understanding of each other's position which must be the preliminary to sound, mutually advantageous agreements," Rt. Hon. Malcolm MacDonald, Dominions secretary in the British Cabinet, declared tonight in an address by trans-Atlantic telephone as he opened the British trade section at the Canadian National Exhibition.

To a distinguished gathering in Toronto, MacDonald, the Government's building in the exhibition grounds, the son of Ramsay MacDonald spoke of inter-imperial trade after he illuminated the building by depressing a cable key in the British General Post-office, London, on the eve of the exhibition opening.

"In the small hours of the morning, development of mutual trade between the United Kingdom and Canada is a matter of importance to both as a contribution towards securing employment and maintaining a good standard of life for the people in each land," Mr. MacDonald said.

TWO-WAY TRAFFIC

"Inter-imperial trade should be two-way traffic," he continued. "It was with this object before us that after the Ottawa conference we guaranteed duty-free entry into our market of Canadian goods which, under our fiscal revolution, would have become dutiable. We hoped that the contribution toward increased prosperity would result in a great expansion in sales between our two countries, and this hope has been realized. We confidently believe you are ready to give our producers fair opportunity to compete in your market."

"We here recognize that for this purpose it is essential that our manufacturers should study carefully the requirements of your markets and adapt their methods and output to Canadian needs. Trade is carried on not between Governments but between business men; but Governments can give encouragement and help, and what influence I have will be used to persuade leaders to our industries to visit Canada themselves in order to learn the methods of salesmanship most appropriate to your conditions and to consult with your industrialists for the supply of your needs on a basis of complementary rather than competitive production."

WELCOME DISCUSSIONS

"In recent weeks, some of my colleagues and I have been engaged in discussions with Canadian ministers in London. We were taking stock together of the results of the Ottawa agreement, and considering many important questions concerning future trade between our countries. The Government of Great Britain welcomed the presence of Mr. Dunning (Hon. Charles Dunning, Dominion Minister of Finance) and his colleagues here; our talks together proved invaluable in creating an understanding of each other's position which must be preliminary to sound, mutually advantageous agreements. The results of the discussions are being examined by the two Governments, and I hope that the ultimate outcome may be fruitful to both peoples."

The Dominions Secretary praised Canada for her part in the negotiations, which resulted in co-operation between the different races in the country, and for her policy of peace which brought an enduring friendship with your neighbor beyond your border."

NEW RELATIONSHIP MADE WITH EGYPT

unlikely before November. Parliament does not reassemble until the end of October.

NEW FEATURES

The treaty embodies features unusual in international instruments—features which the British regard with especial favor. Although the treaty is for twenty years, negotiations may be begun any time after ten years. Any revision must provide for continuance of the alliance in accordance with the following principles:

They will consult each other with a view to peaceful settlement of any dispute with a third state threatening a risk of rupture of relations with that state.

In the event of either party being engaged in war, the other will come to its aid as an ally, subject to its obligations under the League Covenant or the Kellogg Pact.

WAR ASSISTANCE

It is provided in advance that the form which Egypt's assistance to the United Kingdom is to take shall be as follows: "In the event of war, an imminent menace of war or an apprehended international emergency, Egypt will accord all facilities in its power to the United Kingdom, these facilities and this assistance the use of Egyptian ports, airdromes and means of communication, all necessary administrative and legislative measures, including the establishment of martial law and an effective censorship."

Among the facilities will be included facilities for sending British forces or reinforcements.

For the protection of the Suez Canal, Britain is authorized by Egypt to maintain in the canal zone forces not exceeding 10,000 land forces and 400 air pilots. The Egyptian Government will construct in the canal zone additional barracks required for British troops up to the number indicated with full amenities, provide an emergency water supply and build roads. When this work is finished to the satisfaction of both governments, the British troops other than those on the canal will be withdrawn to the canal zone.

British air forces will be permitted to fly wherever they consider necessary, reciprocal treatment being accorded Egyptian forces in British territories.

BRITISH INSTRUCTORS

The Egyptian Government, in the interests of the alliance, will avail itself of the advice of the British military mission in order to perfect the training of the Egyptian army and air force. The armaments equipment of Egyptian forces will not differ in type from those of the British forces.

Administration of the Sudan will continue to be that resulting from the agreements of 1899. It is agreed the primary aim of the administration must be the welfare of the Sudanese. The question of the sovereignty of the Sudan is not prejudiced by the treaty. In addition to Sudanese troops, British and Egyptian troops will be placed at the disposal of the Governor-General for Defence of the Sudan.

For a further five years the Egyptian element will be retained in the Egyptian city police. For the same period, the Egyptian city police will be under the command of British officers.

GIVE PREFERENCE

When engaging foreign experts, the Egyptian Government will generally prefer British subjects with the necessary qualifications.

The British Government recognizes the capitulatory regime is no longer in accord with the spirit of the times or the present state of Egypt. "Foreigners who are nanations of powers possessing capitulatory rights are exempted from the jurisdiction of the local tribunals. They agree, therefore, to support Egypt in an immediate approach to other powers with capitulatory rights with a view to agreement on the following points:

1. Disappearance of the existing restriction of Egyptian sovereignty in the matter of application of Egyptian legislation, including financial legislation, to foreigners.

A transitional regime for a reasonable and not unduly prolonged period to be fixed by agreement during which mixed tribunals will exercise, besides their present judicial jurisdiction, the jurisdiction of consular courts. At the end of this period, the Egyptian Government will be free to dispense with mixed tribunals.

RAND EXHIBIT GREAT PROJECT

South Africa's Grand Spectacle Is in Readiness For Opening

JOHANNESBURG, South Africa, Aug. 27.—Greatest project of its kind ever attempted in South Africa, the Empire Exhibition will be held here from September 15 to January 15, 1937. More than 2,000,000 people are expected to visit the 100-day show.

Coinciding with the enormous expansion of the gold-mining Rand—in this city itself buildings are going up at the rate of nearly $5,000,000 in value a month—it will not be exceeded in interest by the Wembley Exhibition and the annual two-week Canadian National Exhibition at Toronto.

MANY ATTRACTIONS

There will be 100 acres of attractions including buildings representative of Great Britain, South Africa, Canada, Australia, New Zealand, East Africa and Rhodesia. Also embodied in this spectacle will be a gold industry column representing the Rand's output from the time of South Africa's abandonment of the gold standard in 1933, valued at $1,000,000,000; an open-air theatre to seat 10,000 people; and an ice hockey stadium, where overseas teams will compete.

It is being held to celebrate the fiftieth anniversary of the proclamation of the Rand goldfields in September, 1886.

Popcorn Proves Good Fire Alarm

LOCKPORT, N.Y., Aug. 27.—Mrs. Adelaide Gaskill hung some popcorn in her attic to dry. It proved a novel fire-alarm system. The sound of popping corn awakened her and she discovered the attic ablaze.

Friend—Each night before I go to bed I write my thoughts down in my diary. It's so interesting, don't you think?

Woman—Indeed, and how long have you been doing that?

Friend—Oh, about three years.

Woman—Then you must have the front page nearly filled.

DEFEAT NOT RECOGNIZED IN ALBERTA

Farmers in Southern Part Of Province Refuse to Give Up Fight

STICK TO LAND AND MAKE PLANS

By ROBERT J. ANDERSON

CALGARY, Aug. 27.—Don't mention the word "despair" in Southern Alberta. It's a fighting word in this drought-stricken land where farmers, their once-promising crops withered and shrunk, already are making optimistic plans for next year.

"It's the man who stops and fights it out who wins." That's the slogan in Southern Alberta. There's hardly a farmer who intends to throw up his hands and seek a new home in greener and fresher lands in the North, a survey of the territory showed today. All are getting ready for next season.

CROPS RUINED

For more than two months scarcely a drop of rain fell over the southern half of this foothills Province. Fields that in the Spring promised bumper harvests now will yield only five to ten bushels an acre. Half cut down the wheat in many districts.

But in the words of Senator Dan Riley, an old-time Alberta rancher, "the spirit that opened up the country forty or fifty years ago is still there." His remarks were enthusiastically endorsed by J. J. Bowen, Liberal member of the Alberta Legislature for Calgary and himself a rancher, farmer and sheep breeder.

"We've had dry years before," said the big, bluff rancher. "We came back and we'll do it again. Why, in 1906-07 we were practically cleaned out. Tens of thousands of cattle were lost. We came back."

THIRD YEAR

For three successive years drought and hail has wiped out Mr. Bowen's crops on his farm south of Calgary. He said, "after three straight failures, I still think it's a great country. I wouldn't take much less for my farm now than before the disasters began."

Stories of hope and determination come from all parts of the South. The rains have come now, too late to aid the destroyed fields, but their coming meant many farmers would be able to raise fodder to enable them to get through the winter. That was all they needed, something to induce them to "hang on."

NO AUTO CAMPS TO BE ALLOWED

Oak Bay Will Zone Municipality—Will Also Clarify Duplex Situation

Preliminary steps were taken by the Oak Bay Council late yesterday to prevent erection of auto camps in the municipality. The council will reopen the zoning by-law to prepare amendments for this purpose. The duplex house situation will also be clarified in the by-law.

This action was taken when the council was informed the zoning appeal board was considering an appeal to establish an auto camp of four double cabins on Beach Drive, near Goodwin Street.

Councillors were unanimous in the opinion the entire Beach Drive should be kept free from auto camps and directed the building inspector to withhold further permits for such camps until the entire situation had been dealt with.

Councillor Richard Angus moved that the by-law be reopened so that the amendments might be prepared and his motion was seconded by Councillor William Ellis. It was explained that at present no request for definition of duplex houses was contained in the by-law.

Shooting Big Game With Camera Proves Fascinating Sport

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Taylor, Vancouver Island Residents, Back From Extended Caravan Tour in South Africa—A Notable Adventure

"SHOOTING" big game with the camera in the famous Kruger National Park on the east side of the continent; collecting rare botanical specimens in the parched desert lands of the west; pleasure-touring in leisurely fashion along the beautiful southern coast, and exploring, observing and studying all phases of life, political, industrial and social through the length and breadth of the great territory—this has been the happy experience of Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Taylor, their daughter, Miss Mavis Taylor, and Colonel G. A. Duncan, Vancouver Islanders, who have just returned from an adventurous eighteen months' caravan tour through the Union of South Africa.

The party left here on February 1, 1935, in their sixteen-foot-long caravan car, traveled by easy stages southwards to New Orleans, where they embarked on March 6 for Cape Town, and after fourteen months' traveling, during which they covered 10,500 miles by car and rail through Africa, they once again turned their faces homeward, sailing from Durban on May 28, and via Zanzibar, the Indian Ocean, the Seychelles, Singapore and Manila, completing their fascinating round-the-world tour.

EQUIPPED FOR LECTURE

Fully equipped with materials for a fine series of lectures, Mr. Taylor will leave in November for an already planned tour through the United States and Eastern Canada. Before starting, however, he will give a series of lectures locally, the first to be for the Saanich Horticultural Society, and two others have already been arranged for Victoria. They took about 1,500 photographs, 800 of which are in natural color, and in the weeks intervening between now and his lecture tour in the United States, Mr. Taylor will be engaged in making slides.

He collected about 15,000 plants, also. Some of these he left in botanical collections in South Africa; others which he brought back have to be classified.

NO ENGINE TROUBLE

"We had no engine trouble during all our tour, but we broke five sets of springs, three front and two rear," Mr. Taylor reported when questioned as to the behaviour of his big touring caravan. The most prolonged discomfort they experienced in connection with the broken springs was when they had to travel the whole way down from Namaqualand, near the mouth of the Orange River, to Capetown, a distance of 500 miles.

The voyage from New Orleans to Capetown took four weeks, without touching any way ports. At Capetown, they stopped about a month, making their arrangements before proceeding to Pretoria, via Karroo, where they stayed ten days. Thence they moved on to Northern Transvaal, via Beaufort, a large native territory.

"SHOOTING" BIG GAME

Kruger National Park, the great game preserve of South Africa, was their destination at this time. This is an enormous area, comprising about 8,000 square miles, and larger than the three big national parks of the United States. Although within but a day's journey by motor from Johannesburg, it is quite natural and unspoiled. The one artificial touch is the road system and the seven or eight camps provided for tourists.

"Owing to the danger of attack from lions, visitors, of whom there were 15,000 last year, are compelled to stay in camp at night. The regulations are quite strictly enforced for the tourist's own benefit as well as for the protection of the game. Travelers must be in camp by 4.30

Victorians See Africa From Caravan

Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Taylor, their daughter, Miss Mavis Taylor, and Colonel G. A. Duncan have just returned from an eighteen-month round-the-world tour, during which they motored 10,500 miles in South Africa, spending an adventurous ten days in Kruger National Park, the big game preserve of Natal. The above picture shows their sixteen-foot-long caravan, with some of the fellow campers in the park and, in the foreground, four or five of the native boys who are available in the camps to help with lighting fires, cooking, and other services required by tourists.

years, so Mr. Taylor experienced the collectors' delight of seeing the plant-world at its best. After an eight-year drought, one would have expected to find no living plants, and therefore, no animal life, but Mr. Taylor reports that in one such area they found wild hare, rats, a few birds and ostriches, surviving on the meagre vegetation. The succulent leaves of which the travelers washed, in the absence of water, for washing themselves with, and thus saving the limited supply of water they had taken along for drinking purposes.

NOMAD TRIBES
In this country the nomad half-breed Hotentots, with the herds of goat and fat-tailed sheep on which they depend for food and clothing, were seen, practically the only form of human being in the desert.

LIKE AUTO CAMPS
The camps, Mr. Taylor reports, "are operated very much like the auto camps in this country, boys being supplied to help with the making of fires and assisting with the cooking. A charge of three shillings and sixpence is made per night, or if one has one's own sleeping equipment, only one shilling is charged for the night."

This big national game preserve is kept open only from May 1 to October 1, the cool weather season. The remainder of the year, being the hot season, is closed when malaria is rampant, the park, with the exception of the higher and cooler areas of Pretorius Kop, is closed to the public.

Colonel Duncan, who accompanied Mr. Taylor's party, was given permission to remain after the park closed and secured a number of pictures of special interest during a 150-mile tour he made at this time by motor.

AFFORESTATION
From Kruger National Park, the altitude of which ranges from 2,000 to 8,000 feet, Mr. Taylor went on to see at Forest Station, one of the great national forests. Before coming to Canada connected with the forestry department of South Africa, he was particularly interested to see what the Government was accomplishing in the cultivation of trees. He states that the eucalyptus is being grown in large quantities for pulp and timber. The Mexican pine (Pinus patula), imported from the Gulf of Mexico, was also being grown in increasing quantities, at seven years' growth being sufficient big to use in the manufacture of boxes. Already some half-million acres had been planted with this tree.

PLANT COLLECTING
Via Pretorius, Pretoria, Kimberley, and the Great Karroo country, the party now returned to Capetown, from which city they set out northwards for a 300-mile trip overland, by caravan, to the desert country of Namaqualand. Although rain falls in this area only once in every seven or eight years, the country here is famous for its flowers. The plant-life is all of the succulent order, very fleshy, storing water in the leaves and roots. The pelargonium, for instance, although attaining an above-ground growth of only a few inches, has enormous twenty to thirty-pound roots, which contain sufficient water to carry on existence for a long period. Other plants are the gerbera, the arctotis, the dimorphotheca and the bushy misembrianthemum.

Mr. Taylor secured some beautiful natural-color photographs of this last, many presenting a solid mass of bloom. Rain, fortunately, had fallen for the first time in eight years, so Mr. Taylor experienced the collectors' delight of seeing the plant-world at its best. After an eight-year drought, one would have expected to find no living plants, and therefore, no animal life, but Mr. Taylor reports that in one such area they found wild hare, rats, a few birds and ostriches, surviving on the meagre vegetation. The succulent leaves of which the travelers washed, in the absence of water, for washing themselves with, and thus saving the limited supply of water they had taken along for drinking purposes.

NEW TELEPHONES HERE INCREASED
Company Reports City Has 200 New Subscribers in Past Six Months—Total, 14,130

There were 576 new telephones in operation on Vancouver Island during the past six months and 200 new phones in Victoria during the same time, the B.C. Telephone Company announced yesterday, after issuing its September, 1936, telephone book.

Increases were noted particularly in Nanaimo and Port Alberni. According to the company there were 16,130 phones now in operation here, which was said to equal one phone to every three and a half persons here. All subscribers are on the Garden and Empire exchanges.

The figure was reported to be just a few hundred under the peak month of November, 1932, when the city switched over to the dial system of telephones.

Victoria Fair Good Educator, Dr. Tolmie Tells Rotary Club

Business Contacts Can Be Made to Create Local Buying Habit, President of B.C. Agricultural Association Tells Clubmen at Luncheon

"As an educator, the Victoria fair from September 12 to 19 can be made of immense value to anyone taking the time and trouble to go carefully over the exhibits. When you have finished you should have a much better knowledge of the resources of this great Island of possibilities. The fair this year is the seventy-fifth anniversary exhibition and we are trying to make it the biggest and best yet. We need the support of the people of Victoria and surrounding districts. I ask you to assist us in every way."

Thus did Hon. Dr. S. P. Tolmie, M.P., appeal for support for the seventy-fifth Provincial Exhibition of the British Columbia Agricultural Association from members of the Rotary Club at luncheon in the Empress Hotel yesterday. Speaking as president of the association, Dr. Tolmie was given a splendid reception by the clubmen.

BUSINESS VALUES
Dr. Tolmie stressed the business values to such exhibitors. Pure contacts could be made, and exhibits in the fair created a local habit of buying. Such was the case in Toronto, and Victoria could achieve the same success by good support of the local exhibition, Dr. Tolmie said.

Agriculture was the basic industry of Canada and the great improvements in agriculture were produced at these fairs by competitive exhibits of livestock and other products. One of the main features of the local fair, Dr. Tolmie observed, was the contests for boys and girls. Judging competitions, a stock exhibition and other contests better equipped the young people for future agricultural pursuits which they planned to follow.

RENOVATE BUILDING
He said that the old Automobile Building was being renovated for the commercial exhibits at a cost of $2,000. The building was being put into first-class condition and would easily accommodate the exhibits.

Dr. Tolmie listed the attractions to be found at the fair. He stated that the exhibition of livestock was the largest to be seen here in some time. A huge display of Percherons, Belgians and Clydesdales would be seen in the heavy horse section. The other livestock to be on view, including exhibits from as far east as Ontario, would make the show outstanding.

MORE BUTTON FISH LANDED

Large Salmon Hooked at Brentwood and Cowichan During the Day

Two more gold button fish were landed yesterday, both of them at Brentwood Bay. Fishing just off McCurdy's Point, A. B. Searle, of Westhaven, California, hooked a forty-two-pounder after a forty-minute tussle, while G. Hardy and "Slim" Stancome, two local anglers, reported a forty-pounder, which is a good indication that a new run of salmon is coming into Saanich Arm.

Mr. Searle, an avid fisherman, is well known in Victoria, having made a number of trips to the city; but he prizes yesterday's catch above all the rest. Four others were landed, eighteen pounds and less, by the party.

From Cowichan came a report that J. H. C. Palmer pulled in a beautiful forty-two-pounder during the day. Mr. Palmer's fish and the one caught by the two Victorians were on display in the window of Wilson & Lefevy.

THREE BUTTON FISH

Three of the five button fish landed within five days by Mr. and Mrs. Wallace H. McMillan, 1630 Rockland Avenue, formerly of Winnipeg, attracted considerable attention yesterday in the window of Roger Monteth's tackle store, View Street. The Wallaces landed a fifty-four-pounder at Campbell River to gain a gold button, and the next day pulled in a forty-four and one-half-pounder, which gave them a silver button. On the third day they caught a thirty-

SPORTSMEN'S ASSOCIATION NAMES SLATE

Victoria and District Fish And Game Group Holds Annual Meeting

FRANK MOORE GIVEN POST OF PRESIDENT

The value of the Victoria and District Fish and Game Association to fishermen and hunters in the Greater Victoria area was brought to the notice of members at the annual meeting, held last night in the British Public Schools Club, Langley Street.

Major Roger Monteth, who retired as president after a two-year term, reviewed the work of the association during the last twelve months, pointing out the need for a larger membership if the association is to continue to function in the interest of sport hunters and fishermen.

NEW REGULATIONS

Major Monteth said that practically all recommendations from the association had been approved by the fish and game authorities, with the exception of the new Federal regulations regarding migratory game birds and the limitation of bags and curtailment of open seasons. This matter, he said, had been before the Provincial Attorney-General and pleas were sent to Ottawa to make special provisions for Vancouver Island, but without success.

During the past year the association had succeeded in having Dr. M. Monteth appointed to the Federal Biological Station to assist the association in its work of preservation and propagation of game fish in this area. He believed, he said, it was the notable achievement of the association's activities in 1935.

Major Monteth told the members the association executive was still working on the scheme to bring the one of the sport fishing on the island and the plans were progressing. He said the association preferred provincial, Federal or joint commission control and hoped that something would be done within a short time.

OFFICERS ELECTED

The principal business before the meeting was the election of officers for the new term and Frank Moore was chosen as president; Charles Clarke, vice-president, and Stanley Shemilt was re-elected to the post of secretary-treasurer. Members of the executive are Roy Darius, Joseph Jukes, Capt. W. E. Tapley, Stanley Williams, J. Falkins, H. G. Philbrook, W. B. Christopher, Major Monteth and Crawford McLeod. Edward Claydon was named delegate to the Island association, along with the president, vice-president and secretary-treasurer.

It was decided the next meeting would take the form of a supper meeting and arrangements were left in the hands of the executive committee. For this meeting it is expected new members to be enrolled. It was also noted that the association had a membership of nearly 500, while the Victoria district membership totaled 123 paid-up members.

PRESENT PETITION

At the conclusion of the business a petition was laid on the table for signatures, calling upon the authorities to abolish fish traps and to issue any further licences. The petition, however, left the matter of signatures to be individual members and did not endorse the petition.

As a tribute to the work of Major Monteth while president of the association, a president's gavel will be supplied the association and on it will be inscribed the major's name. He was also given the honour of the association for his efforts in the interests of sport fishing and hunting.

The secretary-treasurer's report showed the association had made a year with a credit balance, with all liabilities paid. Mr. Moore reported concerning the business before the meeting, that the association was in a position to take on the second-place Richmond Farmers in the semi-final series, the winners tangle with the league-leading North Shore Indians in the final for the league supremacy.

SALMONBELLIES GAIN PLAY-OFFS

NEW WESTMINSTER, Aug. 27 (P)—New Westminster's Salmonbellies tonight clinched a berth in the Inter-City Box Lacrosse League play-offs as they handed New Westminster Adanacs a 17-15 defeat in the last game of the regular season. Play-offs will start September 7, at the home of the Adanacs.

Salmonbellies started at a fast clip, rattled in six goals to Adanacs' three in the first quarter, and led, 10-7, at the half. The fishers went on to score five more in the third quarter, while Adanacs collected four, but had to concentrate on defence in the final session as the Adanacs made an error in an unsuccessful attempt to tie the count.

Oak Bay to Build New Water Service for Residents of King George Terrace

A six-inch cast iron main to serve King George Terrace will be laid by Oak Bay at an estimated cost of $2,500. It was decided by the Municipal Council yesterday.

It was said that the present two-inch main was inadequate to care for several new houses built on the terrace. Some 1,700 feet of pipe will be required, most of which will be drawn from stock.

The actual cash outlay would be comparatively little, officials said. The necessary funds were already available in a fund created for water mains. The work will probably be completed sometime early next year.

City Women Expect Much From Country

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—"There is nothing too good for the country women," said Mrs. Alfred Watt, M.B.E. president of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, addressing delegates to the convention of Women's Institutes here today.

"City women expect too much from country women," she continued. "They think that they ought to supply them with cheap food and often the only return they make is to litter up countryside with picnic debris. Many city women might well emulate the rational living of their country sisters."

CENTRAL OFFICE
Mrs. Watt told of the origin and financing of the Associated Countrywomen of the World, which includes nearly 100 free and independent large organizations, being united through a central office in London. Here, too, representatives of various countries meet at the different embassies.

Mrs. Watt told of the association's magazine, called The Countrywoman, in which are many articles on subjects of current interest with special appeal to rural women.

COUNTRY EDUCATION
In speaking of education of rural children, Mrs. Watt stated that in her opinion farm boys and girls should not only be educated for farm life. They should first be taught the cultural subjects of literature, history, geography, etc., and after that given whatever training suited to their particular abilities—vocational or otherwise.

Mrs. Watt will leave shortly on a trip around the world. She has been invited to visit the Women's Institutes in New Zealand, Australia and India.

Women's Institute Delegates Ask Pertinent Questions Regarding Sale of Province-Grown Fruit—Up-Country W.I. Work Is Outlined

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—Delegates to the convention of Women's Institutes in session here today turned, for a time, to discussion of British Columbia's fruit and vegetable marketing problems after hearing Hon. K. C. Macdonald, Minister of Agriculture, and other speakers on the subject.

One delegate wanted to know why many Vancouver housewives claimed imported peaches before the Okanagan crop with its superior flavor was on the market. Another said cantaloupes were coming to waste on the ground in the Oliver district, while Vancouver fruit shops displayed imported cantaloupes which also were said to be inferior in flavor to the British Columbia fruit.

MARKETING BOARD
Dr. Macdonald explained the marketing board set up under the Marketing Act.

Its principal function was to see that farmers sold their produce at a reasonable profit, he said.

"You cannot expect people to live on the land, pay taxes, and develop and maintain a decent citizenship if they get no return from the work of production," he declared. "It is of primary importance to all the people of this province that farmers get a fair price for their products."

ACTIVITIES UP-COUNTRY
Mrs. George Murray, Lillooet, described the work of the institute in the Cariboo and Peace River districts. In the former district, a restaurant is kept up at Prince George where school children are served with not only cocoa and toast but also with a variety of other delicacies. Mrs. Murray said.

The Peace River has twenty institutes with 300 members who arrange most of the community social events, run circulating libraries and sponsor dramatic and musical festivals, Mrs. Murray said.

Convention delegates later adjourned for tea at the Canada Pacific Exhibition by the women's committee.

Any members of the clan who would like to join in giving him a welcome, are requested to send their names to Mrs. R. D. Murray, the Angela Hotel, Burdett Avenue.

King Sends Message to Aged Couple

VALLEYFIELD, P.E.I., Aug. 27.—Mr. and Mrs. Angus Macdonald, of Valleyfield, Canada's longest-married couple, who will today celebrate the seventy-fifth anniversary of their wedding, will have a message of congratulations from King Edward to show to friends who have planned a big party for the occasion.

A letter from the King's secretary said:

"His Majesty is much interested to hear that you have both lived to celebrate such a remarkable and unique anniversary, and sends you very hearty congratulations and good wishes."

The groom of seventy-five years is ninety-five years old. He was born in September, 1841. Mrs. Macdonald is only three months younger. She is able to read her worn Gaelic Bible without the aid of spectacles.

Modern Appliances In "Wonder House" Make Work Easier

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—Ease and convenience for persons lacking domestic servants and spare time were disclosed in a "wonder house" on exhibition here today.

There was an electric range which turned itself off when a roast was done to a crisp; doors that opened without being touched to admit housewives with armfuls of dishes, and illuminated keyholes for husbands arriving home late after lodge meetings.

In the nursery an electric eye set off a series of chimes when anyone approached the baby's cradle, and a burglar alarm buzzed when the window near the cradle was opened, to make it difficult for kidnappers. When closet doors were opened, lights immediately flashed on inside.

An electrically-operated goldfish bowl with floodlights and an underwater air fountain required only one change of water each month.

Much Useful Work Done By Women's Institutes

Diversified Activities in British Columbia Benefit Community in Many Ways—City Institute Occupies an Important Place

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27 (P)—Raising funds for the Solarium and for the Othello Scott endowment fund for crippled children, handicrafts and co-operation with schools were the major activities of the Vancouver Island Women's Institute during the past year, according to a report by Mrs. J. D. Gordon, Victoria.

Mrs. Gordon pointed out the advantages of a city institute as exemplified in the Victoria branch, which maintains a restroom for country women's institute members, has a hospital visiting committee, which keeps a watchful eye for institute members who might be in hospital, and extends invitations to the neighboring institutes to be present at meetings and social functions.

OTHER ACTIVITIES
Highlights of other branch activities are: Comox members have been co-operating with local police in relief work; Denman Island secured a resident doctor and conducts pillow case classes; Whaletown has conducted classes in Indian basketry; Qualicum established a public health service which includes two public health nurses for five school districts, also adopted a crippled child at the Solarium.

Sayward supports a half-time nurse; Parkville has renovated the war memorial and arranged for the care of an avenue of trees leading to it; Royal Oak has raised funds for an X-ray at the Solarium and bought a community hall, which is also a community centre.

Pender Island branch has co-operated with the Farmers' Institute in arranging a local fair; Saanich is the first branch to have a junior institute.

West Saanich owns a 14,000 lb. Lake Hill, Cobble Hill, Shawanigan, Sooke and Royal Oak have done mending and sponsored showers of fruit and vegetables for the Solarium.

THE RETURN OF JOAN

by JOSEPH McCORD

CHAPTER XIV

Deeds McCune felt that Joan might have reason for her belief that Dr. Sloan would be "different" after overcoming his supposed dread of the ocean. However, the young man was not prepared for the demonstration that came his way shortly after lunch. The older Ellidge had not appeared at the table. He was resting, according to the explanation that Dr. John managed to offer everyone in the dining-room.

"Sloan definitely was not the one Deeds expected to see when he called a cherry 'Come in' in answer to a tap on his door.

Ellidge wore a freshly laundered white shirt and white ducks. His canvas shoes were spotless. For an instant he stood motionless in the doorway, his grey eyes traveling around the room as he fingered the ribbon on which his spectacles dangled.

"Come in, Doctor."

Sloan closed the door behind him and walked to the rocking chair beside the window. Deeds was conscious of a little tingle of anticipation, a quickening of his pulse. He attempted to imitate his guest's air of calmness.

"I was glad to see you in the water this morning," he offered civilly. "I hope you've felt no ill effects."

Instead of replying, the doctor treated him to a level stare, then asked, "Do you play cards?"

"Cards?" Deeds echoed. "Why, I've been known to."

Was he rounding up some of the men of the house for a poker game . . . or something? That inscrutable face would indicate a worthwhile player. Deeds took a seat on the foot of the bed. Waited.

"So have I," Sloan admitted in a flat tone. "And when I play, I prefer to lay my cards on the table . . . especially when I am favored with an intelligent opponent."

"Am I supposed to thank you?"

"It's not necessary. I've already come to several conclusions about you. May I ask why you have taken so keen an interest in me . . . and my brother?"

Deeds considered before replying. He admitted no fear of the man, whoever he was . . . no physical fear, at least. It was more like facing a skillful fencing adversary, one who might lunge with an unexpected thrust if he didn't keep his guard up.

"I didn't know that I had shown any particular interest," he said. "Only to the extent of sending out letters of inquiry."

"Come now, Doctor!" Deeds gave him a friendly smile. "Aren't you rather letting yourself in for something? I haven't been passing my mail around."

"We won't quibble. I happen to know the information you received."

"I am quite sure of it. Also that your brother is clever with his fingers. You might tell him for me that he should tape his thumbs."

when he picks pockets . . . on hot days."

Sloan waved the suggestion aside with a gesture of his spectacles.

"I am perfectly willing to admit that we are using the name of Ellidge as a convenience."

"They call it an alias, where I come from," Deeds interrupted amiably. He was not at all sure but that he was rather enjoying this. So far, he had the advantage. His caller clearly was on the defensive.

"The name is a small matter," Sloan continued imperturbably. "It happens that I am a physician . . . a specialist, in fact. Overworked and in search of rest. Could you appreciate the idea that a professional man might adopt an alias, if you prefer . . . to escape from the demands of practice?"

Deeds reached for his cigarettes and proffered the pack to his visitor. It was refused with an impatient shake of the head. He looked one for himself before he answered the question.

"I might appreciate it," he reflected. "But to be very candid, I don't. Is your brother a physician, too? I know he's a specialist, of course." Deeds permitted himself a grim smile.

"John has a degree," his brother admitted. "He's more of a laboratory putterer than anything else. That is not quite accurate, either."

"His specialty is making a damned fool of himself."

"Really?"

"Quite. I have to keep him about because I never certain what he is likely to say or do."

"I can understand that."

"I'm glad. Take our situation here. It should have been simple enough, as I planned it. But John has an unfortunate habit of dramatizing things, such as my nervous condition. It's bad enough, but he dilated upon it continually to anybody who would listen to him. I cautioned him, but it did no good. I knew it would react unfavorably upon some intelligent person . . . like yourself. It did."

Deeds nodded, as the other man studied him thoughtfully.

"Of course," Sloan admitted. "I didn't help matters by going for a swim—the day you saw me. I might have known. However, it's too late to worry over trifles of that sort. I confess that I am more interested in what your attitude is going to be. I should very much dislike having my rest here broken by any impulsive action on your part. For that reason, I'm inclined to suggest that."

"That I promise to keep my mouth shut," Deeds replied.

"That would be very considerate, I'm sure."

"There's only one thing that makes me hesitate. When I make promises, I'm in the habit of keeping them. I should be more inclined to favor you if your methods had been just a little less crude. They don't give me a very good opinion of . . . your family. If you don't object to my being frank."

"Not at all. It's much the best procedure for us both. Possibly you are not to be blamed for your attitude. Poor old John is very much upset over the whole affair. He was all for coming over and making a plea on my behalf . . . in fact, he thought you might be in a position where you would consider a suggestion of having it . . . made worth your while."

Deeds reached over and rubbed his cigarette violently in the ash tray. "I'm inclined to agree with you in your estimate of your brother," he acknowledged. "He's a blast with a lot of nerve . . . among other things."

Sloan permitted himself a tolerant smile.

"I told you he was like that, McCune. You've got to make due allowance. John's past forty . . . and the chump imagines himself young. He's difficult enough when he's normal."

Deeds' brown eyes narrowed as he watched the other man's impassive face. He sat motionless.

"All of which goes to show there are many ways of being a fool," Sloan moralized gently. "With a quick motion he thrust his glasses into the pocket of his shirt. His next words were spoken in a changed voice. It was cold, incisive.

"I think we've dallied enough, McCune. You won't promise to keep your mouth shut and you don't want money. You're no fool. Neither am I."

"So what?"

"Several things. I am not interested in any conclusion you are pleased to draw about me. I have no intention of burdening you with confidences, but I would like to impress you . . . if it's possible . . . with the fact that I am accustomed to getting what I want from people. Not just sometimes. All the time. If you can adjust yourself to that situation, it may save all of us . . . some unpleasantness."

"Am I supposed to pack up and fade away? Aren't you afraid I might continue my research from a distance?"

"Oh, no. Because you are not going to leave here . . . say for the matter of another ten days or so. After that, it will make no particular difference where you go or what you say. I have my own reasons for being rather certain."

"But supposing I did decide to fit?" Deeds persisted.

"You won't. After you think it over."

"Sure!" was the contemptuous retort. "I suppose I would be picked up among the driftwood when the tide went out. Maybe I wouldn't be found at all. Aren't you being just a little dramatic yourself, now?"

"No. You accused my brother John . . . I think you had him in mind specifically . . . of being crude. What you have just suggested would be ungraciously crude. I fully expect you to enjoy your vacation quite as if nothing had happened. Play around, swim . . . and eat. I quite envy you your appetite."

"But forget what I know . . . about you?"

"Exactly. Simple enough, isn't it?"

"Too simple!"

Deeds got to his feet and faced his visitor, who looked up at him without the slightest change of expression on his lean face.

"I think this has lasted long enough, Doctor. It isn't funny any more."

"I don't know whether to ask you to get out . . . or if I should take you by the scruff of the neck and toss you out. You've said just about enough to . . . I to put you in the cheap crook class. Your precious brother has already put himself there. I don't know what your game is, and I'm not sure I care. But I have been around a little. Don't fall for bluffs too easily, I hope. Suppose you get on your way, before we forget ourselves and the estimable Jere Kendall puts us out for disturbing the peace."

Sloan elevated his eyebrows a trifle, but his steely eyes did not waver.

"That would be unfortunate for you, my impulsive young friend. You must believe it, I'd rather like you. So many young men are afraid to assert themselves these days. I'm bare-handed. I am quite able to take care of myself, but I'd rather you didn't force me to. And we have not quite finished our talk. Please . . ."

Deeds could not have explained his hesitation. He still was unafraid, but there was something in the man's face—sudden suggestion of a hidden threat—that gave him pause. "Well?" he granted defensively. "Get on with it."

"You puzzle me, McCune. You may be the artist you represent yourself to be. But you're peculiarly combative for such a role. I haven't the time or inclination to check you up on. As long as you're here, it's unnecessary. I'm older than you, and my profession makes me a fair judge of character. I take it that you are a normal young man. I wonder if there may not have been some indiscretions in the past that you would prefer to forget. Well, now . . . I'm speaking generally. We're all like that."

"But we're not all screwy," Deeds objected bluntly. "Let's . . ."

"A moment. What I wanted to remind you of was the fact that these regrettable moments are not reserved . . . to men. I trust you get my meaning. I'm speaking of impulsive actions, nothing more serious . . . necessarily."

Deeds' face grew white under its tan. His eyes narrowed dangerously and his jaw set in a grim clench. He spoke in a low, clear voice.

What is it, Peter? Do tell me quick! Have you had another narrow escape?"

Enter the Red Squirrel and Happy Jack the Grey Squirrel. Peter had been jumping from tree to tree, but he didn't think it a safe and proper place for a sensible rabbit, and she said so.

This particular morning she was unusually busy. Peter had been gone all night. Usually he was home by the time Old Mother West Wind came down from the Purple Hills and emptied her children, the Merry Little Breezes, out of her big bag to play all day on the Green Meadows, but this morning Old Mother West Wind had been a long time gone about her business and still no sign of Peter.

"Something has happened. I just know something has happened!" she wailed.

Oh, Peter, Peter, Peter Rabbit. Why will you be so heedless? Why will you take such dreadful risks? So foolish and so needless?

"Don't worry. Peter is smart enough to take care of himself," cried one of the Merry Little Breezes, who happened along just in time to overhear her. "He'll be home pretty soon. In fact, I think I see him coming now."

Mrs. Peter looked in the direction that the Merry Little Breeze was looking, and sure enough there was Peter. He was heading straight for the dear Old Briar Patch, and he was running as if he were trying to show how fast he could run. Mrs. Peter's heart gave a frightened thump. "It must be that Reddy or Granny Fox or Old Man Coyote is right at his heels, thoughtless—but look as hard as she would she could see nothing to make Peter run so."

In a few minutes he reached her side. His eyes were very wide, and it was plain to see that he was bursting with important news.

"What is it, Peter? Do tell me quick! Have you had another narrow escape?" gasped little Mrs. Peter. Peter nodded while he panted for breath. "There's another stranger in the Green Forest—a terrible looking fellow without legs or head or tail, and he almost caught me!"

MARINE, RAIL and AIR

Eleven Planes Are Entered Already in Johannesburg Race

Entries for Air Feature Event of Empire Exhibition in South Africa Confined to British Aircraft and Pilots

LONDON, Aug. 27. — Interest quickens in the race from England to the Rand, for prizes aggregating £10,000, which is scheduled to start on the night of September 29, and must end at the Baragwanath Aerodrome, Johannesburg, not later than 120 hours afterwards. In that time, competing aircraft must fly 6,500 miles, going by way of Belgrade and Cairo. The fastest racer may take no longer than two days for the entire journey and no competitor is allowed more than five days in which to finish the course.

Devised with the help of prize money given by I. W. Schlesinger, a South African industrialist, the race coincides with the great Empire Exhibition at Johannesburg, and is planned to attract to the city examples of Britain's fastest and most modern transport planes. Today, nearly three weeks before the closing date for entries at double fee, eleven aircraft are nominated for the contest, including single-engined and multi-engined machines capable of speeds in the neighborhood of 200 miles an hour. At least one entirely new type of commercial airplane will make its first appearance in the race; three entries announced this morning include the new De Havilland Dolphin, ninety-second D.H. design, fast twin-engine biplane, Hugh Buckingham, the firm's chief test pilot, will fly it.

HIGHEST PRIZE
The biggest prize—£4,000—will go to the competitor who completes the course in the shortest time. Four prizes will be awarded on a formula handicap which is weighted in favor of machines carrying large useful loads; the first prize will be £3,000, the second £1,500, the third £1,000, and the fourth £500. Only British pilots and British aircraft may compete.

The racing conditions prepared by the Royal Aero Club, which is responsible for organization, give every chance for spectacular achievement. No time allowance will be made for refueling and other ground work; every aerodrome at which competitors alight, therefore, will be the scene of intense activity, directed by pilots who begrudge every second that does not see them nearer the finishing line.

In the air, the course of the competing airplanes is essentially untrammelled. They must be seen at Belgrade—a stipulation made to prevent over-daring racers from taking the shortest way between England and Italy over the greatest length of the Mediterranean. They must call in at Cairo, and perhaps at Salisbury. Otherwise, each pilot may re-fly where he pleases. He may stop non-stop over long stages, with the power plant throttled to economical cruising speed, or fly shorter stages at full throttle and refuel more frequently. Probably every competitor in the race will have different ideas of the best way to achieve success.

FAST MONOPLANES
In addition to the Dolphin, two other highly efficient light multi-engined transport planes are likely to compete. One is the Double Eagle, which secured third place in this year's race for the King's Cup at an average speed of 181 miles an hour. Flight Lieutenant T. Rose, who held the England-South Africa England record until Mrs. Amy Molson set new figures a few months ago, will be its pilot.

Deriving power from two Gipsy Six, 200-horsepower engines, the Double Eagle is designed to carry six people and freight at a normal cruising speed of 185 miles per hour. When it flew in the King's Cup, the paint was heavily dry on the exterior of wings and body, yet its speed in that new and untried state around a difficult triangular course showed that the destined maximum speed of 180 miles an hour was well within its scope. Since then, ways and means have been found to enhance its efficiency and, in starting condition for the race to Johannesburg, the Double Eagle may attain the coveted 200 miles per hour— notable engineering achievement in a craft which carries a considerable payload and employs only 400 horsepower.

Another likely entrant is the Miles Peregrine, a sleek twin-engined monoplane which, for the contest, may have controllable-pitch airscrews and two of the new De Havilland Gipsy-Six Series II engines designed for continuous output of 205 horsepower. The single-engined entries include Mew Gull single-seat cabin monoplanes, capable of a maximum speed of 225 miles per hour; Vega Gull monoplanes, exactly similar to the machine which won this year's King's Cup race in the hands of C. E. Gardner, and examples of the fast Hawk monoplanes in the Miles range.

FOR PUBLIC EXHIBITION

Streamlined Canadian Pacific Train Coming to B.C. Next Month

VANCOUVER, Aug. 27.—Streamlined, completely air-conditioned and described as a moving "poem in steel and chromium," the Canadian Pacific Railway's new high-speed train designed for fast day-light runs, will be on tour throughout British Columbia from mid-September, September 12, the train in all its gleaming modernity, will be on public exhibition. Other British Columbia cities and towns will get similar if shorter opportunities to go aboard and inspect the equipment that represents all the latest developments in the railways' bid for increased public patronage.

NOTABLE INVENTIONS
Many leading manufacturers of railway equipment have contributed their most notable inventions and improvements to this new and radical train which is powered by one of the new streamlined locomotives, steel and chromium beauties built to travel 110 miles per hour. The first of its kind to come to the West, it is one of several such units and being built by the Canadian Pacific for fast day-light runs between larger centres of population. Stripped to essentials and geared to new demands of comfort and convenience, the train has a combination baggage-mail-express coach, two day coaches of a new and vastly improved type, and two de luxe rear coaches, one of them equipped with luncheon bar.

The train is designed for a single-day return run, or runs between larger centres, and can make two runs to the one by an ordinary "local."

It is expected to revolutionize railway travel in Canada as similar light-weight, high-speed trains have done between such places as New York and Chicago, where traffic is heavy but competing keen in the transportation field.

NOTICE TO MARINERS
Mariners are advised that an unwatched, flashing white, acetylene gas light has been established on the southern end of Morley Island, Clatsop Passage, Clavonout Sound, B.C. The light is visible over an arc of 182 degrees from 283 degrees through North and East to 105 degrees.

Canadian Flyers Still Missing on 240-Mile Flight

PORT RESOLUTION, N.W.T., Aug. 27.—Ten days after their airplane disappeared in Canada's northern barren lands while on a 240-mile flight, no word had been received here today of two missing Royal Canadian Air Force flyers.

Flight-Lieutenant Sheldon Coleman and Aircraftman J. Forty were being sought by six fellow pilots. It was believed the emergency rations the two carried had long since been used.

FREIGHTER IS AFLOAT

Contract for Repairs to Atlantic City Will Be Awarded Today

With temporary patches covering the holes punched in her sides by a reef somewhere in the neighborhood of Race Rocks Tuesday morning, last, the Beardon-Smith freighter Atlantic City was floated out of the Government Drydock at Esquimalt last evening, making room for the Ss. Empress of Russia which will enter the big basin this morning for cleaning and painting.

The Atlantic City will remain alongside the facing of the drydock until such time as it is decided where she will go for repairs. Specifications, prepared by Harry Barnett, representing the British corporation, were available last night, and tenders will be received this morning and awarded shortly after.

In the meantime, the oil in the ship's tanks will be pumped out, so that repairs can be effected with the minimum of delay.

EXPLOSION VICTIMS WILL ALL RECOVER

HALIFAX, Aug. 27.—Hospital authorities said today eleven persons injured when J. C. MacKenzie's schooner yacht Kintara was wrecked by explosion and fire would recover. Two children, only slightly burned, had been taken to their homes, and the others were progressing favorably.

Six were hurried into Halifax Harbor by the blast last night. Five others were trapped by flames until a motor launch took them off.

GIVE ASSURANCES

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—Assurances that striking longshoremen at Port Townsend, Wash., would return to their jobs was given to waterfront employers here today by representatives of the International Longshoremen's Association.

Matt Meehan, Portland, secretary-treasurer of the Pacific Coast district, I.L.A., informed the coast committee of employers, at a meeting to settle issues concerning the 1934 award and the decisions of Federal Arbitrator Harry Hazel.

The assurance was given after Thomas G. Plant, chairman of the employers' committee, informed the meeting it was useless to continue negotiations unless the strike was called off.

Assorted threats of violence against longshore union officials complicated the efforts to negotiate an agreement.

H. P. Meinkow, counsel for the I.L.A.'s district committee, said someone had telephoned his office and threatened.

LIFE THREATENED

"If Meinkow causes a strike on the waterfront, we'll blow his brains out," Meinkow told a joint meeting of waterfront employers and employees that the threat would not alter his attitude in the slightest.

District I.L.A. President Harry Bridges and Executive Committee member Henry Schmidt likewise said they had received threats against their lives.

The inaugural flight probably will be made in December. The contract for carrying the air mail has been awarded to an Edmonton flying company.

branches of histrionics is represented in "The Bride Walks Out." Miss Stanwyck appears as a young bride whose proud young husband insists that she give up her job as a model, at which she makes more money than he does as a $35 per week surveyor.

Gene Raymond takes the part of the husband. He not only has trouble convincing his bride that she should become a housewife, but a gay young man with lots of money in the person of Robert Young becomes an annoying pal of the couple.

Ned Sparks, who plays the part of Raymond's co-worker, finds his match as a "dead-pan" in Helen Broderick, seen as his wife. This team of players is one of the funniest yet brought to the screen.

$100,000 Blaze Razes Skating Rink

Nearly Fifty pieces of fire-fighting apparatus were brought into action by a five-alarm fire which swept Iceland Skating Rink in San Francisco. Underwriters estimate the damage at $100,000. Two firemen were hurt battling the flames. Hundreds of men, women and children were forced to flee nearby homes when the flames threatened to spread. Photo shows a high pressure water tower at left playing a powerful stream on the burning building.

GAY MUSICAL IS AT THE CAPITOL

"Sing, Baby, Sing," With Adolphe Menjou, Alice Faye and Good Cast, Is Featured

Nobody will be able to complain that "Sing, Baby, Sing," the musical special coming today to the Capitol Theatre, is limited in scope.

The picture literally ranges from hi-de-ho to Hamlet, from bay rum to champagne, from the dizzy speech of Gregory Ratoff to the equally dizzy antics of the Ritz Brothers, and from the swing tunes of Pollack and Yellen, as interpreted by Alice Faye, to the lambic pentameter of William Shakespeare as interpreted by Adolphe Menjou.

Mr. Menjou, incidentally, upsets a personal tradition of fastidiousness by roaming around in a nightie, in a sequence which adds nothing to his reputation as one of the world's best-dressed men.

Besides the comedy of Gregory Ratoff, Menjou and the Brothers Ritz, the picture is punctuated by amusing antics of Ted Healy and Patsy Kelly.

OAK BAY The opening scenes of THEATRE the Laurel and Hardy comedy, playing today and tomorrow at the Oak Bay Theatre, show Stanley McLaurel, accompanied by his pompous friend, Oliver McHardy, arriving in Scotland to claim the magnificent estate of his deceased uncle. Then the boys, through a misadventure, find they have enlisted in a Highland regiment and are promptly sent to India. It is needless to state that the fun which follows is of the uproarious variety for which these veteran comedians are famous.

ATLAS "Champagne Charlie," the effervescent love story of a dollar prince and a playboy princess, is the newest Fox picture produced under the supervision of Edward T. Lowe. Paul Cavanagh and Helen Wood, lovely young screen newcomers, are cast in the leading roles of the film now at the Atlas Theatre.

COLUMBIA A stampede of five thousand steers in the Paramount film, "Nevada," now at the Columbia Theatre, endangered the lives of the cast while on location filming the outdoor scenes of this new Zane Grey adventure picture. Daring riding by experienced cowboys prevented the stampede from getting out of hand and no one was hurt.

PIERROTS TO OFFER PROGRAMME TONIGHT

The Royal English Show Boat, Pierrots will present their third popular programme in the second series for 1936, tonight on the Show Boat.

This second series of Pierrot entertainments has met with general approval and greatly increased attendance, according to the management, and tonight's show is stated to be more spectacular and more musical than ever.

Since T. H. Ellick, secretary of the Tourist Association, took over the arrangement of these Friday night programmes three weeks ago, great attention to production details has been evident, and the resulting performances have met with general approval.

Other trips for Sunday will be a mystery outing to an unknown destination, the time for starting being set at 10:30 a.m. Holiday makers will also have the choice of a run to Maple Bay, Shawnigan Lake, Sooke Harbor and Goldstream Park.

Then there are the all-expense tours which Coach Lines have been offering the past month, good for going any day. These are to the Forbidden Plateau and to Forbes Landing.

A young man was escorting his latest young lady out of the theatre. Anxious to make a good impression on her, he held his hat in his hand, carrying it carefully upright to keep it from being crushed.

One of the onlookers, who was watching the outflow, spotted the hat and seized on the chance to be wagish. "Hey," he shouted, "are you going to take up a collection?"

The young man looked around a second before he realized that he was the one addressed. "Why, no," he answered softly, "not if you and your organ-grinder were here first."

A clergyman was dining with his host before the afternoon service. He ate little, explaining that it was not good for a preacher to eat heavily before a sermon.

The hostess could not attend the service as she had to stay at home to prepare tea.

When her husband came home, she said: "Well, how was he?"

The husband, heaving a sigh, replied: "He might just as well have eaten."

Sir Edward, before leaving Victoria, made an inspection tour of the Crystal Garden.

The party will spend today and tomorrow in Vancouver, and its members will board their private cars Sunday morning for the east-bound trip.

DESIGN JEWELS IN FISH SHAPE

Some New Adornments in Paris Show Decided Trend of the Sea

PARIS, Aug. 27 (AP).—Fish have been culled from the sea, figuratively speaking, to make jewelry designs. Emerald green dolphins are destined for ear lobes, sea horses scheduled for clip duty.

A pair of crawfish in jade-colored composition band together to fasten a belt. Star fish and scallop shells in carved light wood, make ornaments in their own whimsical ways.

Wood, generally, gets in a lot of jewelry work. Large wood clips, with gold bars across them, may linger on any edge of lapel. A bracelet of wooden squares, linked together, displays a gold motif on each square. The hunting bracelet has dogs' heads, horns and fox tails. For good luck are letters on the wooden squares spelling "Touch-wood."

Ropes make nautical-looking jewelry. A wooden boat with gold sails forms the pendant of a necklace in ecru rope. Five gold bells dangle from a bracelet of red rope.

VARIOUS PATTERNS Bunches of grapes, clusters of flowers, triangles of pearls, all take turns at earrings. Clips of red, white and blue roses have diamond centres for the flowers and gold leaves around them. One has a lace pattern in gold for the old-fashioned note.

DUNCAN NINE CAPTURES ISLAND CHAMPIONSHIP

Sunderland Meets Sheffield Eleven In Opening Match

Last Year's English Football League Champions Face Strong Opposition in Initial Fixture of Season—Aberdeen and Rangers Play at Home—Unbeaten Motherwell Travels

LONDON, Aug. 27.—The long English football season, that will not end until May 1, starts Saturday. During the summer months, officials of the eighty-eight clubs that make up the four divisions of the English League have been busy strengthening their teams, and, during the past month, players have put the finishing touches to their training.

Opening games are likely to be played in summer weather, under conditions more suitable for cricket than soccer. The usual optimism is uppermost in comments of team managers while directors anticipate a successful season in view of improved economic conditions throughout the United Kingdom.

The First Division welcomes Manchester United and Charlton Athletic, promoted from the Second Division, but on all sides the departure of such old favorites as Aston Villa and Blackburn Rovers is deplored. The teams were relegated at the close of last winter's play, and will perform outside the premier league for the first time in their long history.

Coventry City and Chesterfield are also newcomers to the Second Division, their places in the third being taken by Hull City and Port Vale. Both these clubs will play in the Northern Section, while the others are transferred to the Southern division.

GROUND CHANGES
Many clubs and grounds have undergone changes, and the magnificent grandstand, being erected on Arsenal's ground at Highbury is expected to be completed before the end of the year. The Gunners play Everton in the opening game, and are relying chiefly on last year's players.

Sunderland, champions last season, go to Sheffield, where the Wednesday will provide tonight's post-game. For its initial tussle in First League football, Charlton Athletic will visit Stoke, but will find points harder to obtain than in the Second Division play. Manchester United is at home to Wolverhampton Wanderers.

With the most expensive team in the league, the demotion was expected to command respect. They should have little difficulty in defeating Swansea Town, although the Welshmen are playing on their own ground. Huddersfield Town appear at Burnley, Sheffield United, de-

COAST PLAYERS WILL MOVE UP

Fifteen Ball Stars Expected To Be Given Big League Try-Outs

SAN FRANCISCO, Aug. 27.—At least fifteen Pacific Coast League players, including six hard-hitting catchers, are being considered by major league scouts, a late-season check showed today.

The two prize rookies are Joe Marty, hard-hitting San Francisco Seal outfielder, and Hal Spittler, peppy but temperamental Seattle catcher. Marty is hitting in the neighborhood of .350 and held the league leadership for most of the year. He is an excellent fielder. Spittler, a .308 hitter, is priced at $80,000 by William Klepper, owner of the Indians.

Other promising backstops have even more impressive batting records than Spittler. Vince Monzo, Seal regular, was leading the league when the averages were last released with a .352 average, while Earl Brunker, of Portland, is closing 344. Gene Desautels, formerly of Detroit, classed by some as the best catcher in the league, is batting .313. Willard Hershberger, of Oakland, property of the New York Yankees, has shown enough to warrant a chance in the majors. Joe Sprinz, of the San Francisco Missions, a .308 hitter, is also under observation. Eddie Jowl, Mission third baseman and shortstop, is the class of the unsold infielders.

Cricket Scores In Old Country

LONDON, Aug. 27.—Gloucestershire won its ninth victory of the season today, defeating Essex by 153 runs in a county cricket match concluded a day ahead of schedule. The Western County compiled 146 and 299 against its opponents' 171 and 121. Charles Barnett had a big share in Gloucestershire's success, making 117 runs in the second innings and taking six Essex wickets for 17 runs.

SERIES FEVER GRIPS GIANTS AND YANKEES

Tentative Plans for Baseball Classic Already Under Way in New York

NEW YORK, Aug. 27.—World series fever grips New York with the Yankees as good as in, and the Giants on their way.

Park superintendents at Yankee Stadium and the Polo Grounds are checking seating arrangements and glancing at each other from their vantage points across the Harlem River. Subway lines are getting fancy advertisements to tell customers about the horrors of automobile parking and the value of a nickel. Hot dog, popcorn and peanut vendors are laying in big orders. Office boys are begging for new vacation dates.

In every Manhattan hotel lobby you can hear arguments as to the merits of the Giants and Yanks, who actually aren't so pleased about the prospect of facing Carl Hubbell's slants.

Horace Stoneham, president of the Giants, and Charles McManus, Yankee Stadium superintendent, have made a whisker wager on the series—if it comes true. If the Giants win, McManus must shave off his famous moustache; if the Yanks win, Stoneham must grow a moustache and wear it for one year.

Bleacher fans will get their greatest break in world series history at enlarged Yankee Stadium which will have 20,000 seats. There are some 4,000 of them at the Polo Grounds. Thus, a New York bleacherite will be able to see seven world series games for the grand sum of a $10 bill, which would include transportation, and twenty-three hot dog sandwiches.

The 1936 world series will be the fifth in eleven seasons for Tony Lazzeri and the fifth in fourteen years for Lou Gehrig. Mel Ott has been in one Fall classic in ten years. Carl Hubbell and Bill Terry in but two in thirteen, exclusive of the impending one. World series just follow Mark Koenig around.

If he gets into the coming one, it'll be his fifth in twelve years. Babe Ruth holds the record with ten in twenty-two years. Frankie Frisch has been in eight in seven years. Dick Bartell and Sam Leslie have been hanging around for eight seasons without getting into one.

A Scotsman who was playing his harp in a city street was summoned to appear at an English police court on a charge of breach of the peace.

A policeman, asked by the magistrate to describe what the accused was doing, replied: "He was making an awful noise with his machine."

BEAT SILENT GLOWS BEHIND FINE MOUND WORK OF EVANS, 11-4

Hillcrest Lumber Company Carries Off Senior Softball Crown by Scoring Second Straight Win Over Victorians—Pitt and Lamb Hit for Circuit—Trophy Presented to Winners

Hammering the offerings of Lloyd Jones, Silent Glows' twirler, to all corners of the lot, Hillcrest Lumber Company nine walked off with the Vancouver Island Senior "A" softball championship at the Athletic Park last night, by scoring an impressive 11-4 win over the local and Lower Island champions. Over 1,000 fans crowded the enclosure to witness the downfall of the burnermen at the hands of a superior squad.

It was the Hillcrest boys' game all the way, particularly after the fourth frame, when they stepped into a 4-1 lead. The local nine stayed in the fight for the full nine innings, but Elmer Evans, Up-Island lower, had too much on the ball. Hillcrest, on the other hand, hit everything Jones put up to the plate, and kept the burnermen scampering around the field retrieving the hits.

Each team chalked up tallies in the first inning. Hillcrest added three in the fourth and two more in the fifth, while the locals garnered three markers in their half of the fifth. However, this was the Silent Glows' big inning, for they were unable to collect any more runs from Evans after that frame.

The Up-Islanders, on the other hand, went on to add another run in the eighth, and ran up a barrage of hits in the ninth for four more runs. The timely placing of the Hillcrest nine hits is apparent when it is taken into consideration that the burnermen made but four bobbles, with the Duncans guilty of five miscues.

FINE FIELDING
Levy snagged a beauty for Silent Glows in retiring the visitors in the third, when he raced in from center field to gather in Evans' high fly. Brown also bagged a nice fly for the locals when he took Collier's offering over his shoulder. In the first frame Levy also made a great play, racing in fast to pull off a shoestring catch.

Both nines collected a home run. Pitt got Hillcrest's four-base knock in the fifth inning driving in Strouger in front of him, while Rube Lamb, Silent Glows' first sacker, collected a circuit drive in the local's half of the fifth. Lovell, playing in the outfield for the visitors, barely missed a homer when he was tagged out at the plate on a nice throw by Morgan.

Starting off the fifth, Strouger banged out a single to centerfield and crossed the plate on Pitt's circuit smash. However, Brown hooked Collier's high one and Simpson and Campbell both flied out after Timothy had rapped out a bingle.

LAMB HITS HOMER
Silent Glows sneaked up to within striking distance in their half of the fifth. Morgan stretched a hit to a three-bagger on an error by Pitt. Jones was out but Lamb's homer brought in two runs. Okell made second on a wild pitch, sneaked to third and came home on another wild throw, but Preston fanned to retire the side.

Jones settled down in the sixth and retired the Up-Islanders one-two, three, but the Silent Glows were held scoreless when they came to bat, after getting two men on.

The seventh was scoreless also, but Hillcrest added another in the eighth when Mills, with two out, placed a nice one through shortstop. Mills went to second on a wild pitch and came home on Lovell's long hit. In trying to stretch the hit a little too far Lovell was nabbed out at the plate.

Silent Glows looked headed for a seventh-inning rally, but Evans' steady arm prevented a single runner crossing the plate. Preston got a bingle and moved to second on Robertson's hit. Levy went down swinging and Brown singled, forcing Robertson at second. Collier pulled down Morgan's fly seconds later to retire the locals.

SCORE FOUR MORE
With two out, Caddell managed to land a single from Evans, but Okell flied out to centerfield to end the game.

The "Buzz" Francis Perpetual Memorial Trophy was presented to Strouger, captain of the winners, by Mr. Knight, softball delegate from Ladysmith.

Hillcrest garnered eighteen hits to Silent Glows' eight. Score by innings: Silent Glows 100 030 000-4 Hillcrest 120 320 011-11 Batteries were: Silent Glows—Jones and Caddell, Hillcrest—Evans and Strouger.

CARDS DROP FIFTH SUCCESSIVE GAME; CUBS WIN

Parmelee Beaten In Pitching Duel By Dan McFayden

Allows Only Three Hits, But Loses 1-0 Battle in Tenth Frame to Bees—Chicago Moves Into Tie For Second Place—Giants Idle—Yankees Trim St. Louis—Indians Beat Senators

NATIONAL LEAGUE
ST. LOUIS, Aug. 27 (AP).—Leroy "Tarzan" Parmelee, Cardinal hurler, was near fame today but after pitching seven hitless innings against the Bees, weakened and Boston won in the tenth, 1 to 0. It was a pitchers' battle from the first inning, with the veteran, bested by Dan McFayden, of the Bees, allowing only four safeties, no more than one in any inning, and Parmelee, last year with the Giants, only three. The defeat—the fifth straight for the Cardinals and Boston's fourth victory in a row for a sweep of the series—placed the men of Frankie Frisch three games back of the idle first-place Giants and in a second-place tie with the Chicago Cubs, who won from the Phillies for their fifth consecutive victory.

All Lopes singled in the eighth to break the spell the rugged Parmelee seemed to hold over the Bees. But it was Joe Coscarra's tenth-inning triple, scoring Tony Cuccinello from second that provided the winning margin. Lopes never got farther than first base.

It was Henshaw's first pitching triumph since July 2, and pulled the Cubs to within three games of the National League pace set by the idle Giants.

The Cubs got to Syl Johnson for the game's only run in the fifth inning. Billy Herman led off with his forty-ninth two-bagger of the year, was sacrificed to third by Frank Demaree, and came home on Stan Hack's long fly to centre field.

Action During Old-Timers' Fixture

There was dignity on the diamond in the old days. (Double yowahs for that poetic phrasing!) Umpires in top hats and tail coats, just as in that palmy period, came back to call "saves" and "outs" during the old-timers' game between Brooklyn Atlantics and New York Knickerbockers, in the metropolis. Henry Wianesky is scoring for Atlantics on a slide, showing that the players at least forgot dignity in favor of reaching the plate. Russel is the catcher and Mr. Jack White is umpiring.

DUCKS TO HAVE BETTER CHANCE
Web-Footed Game Birds Will Soon Head Southward In Larger Numbers

NEW YORK, Aug. 27 (AP).—Spoonbills, mallards and other web-footed game birds soon will head southward from Canada's north country with a better chance of returning next Spring to their Summer breeding grounds than in any recent year.

Autumn's first frosty days will see ducks bound for wintering spots in the Southern United States. But this time when they run the gauntlet of hunters' guns, the birds will be aided by tightened shooting restrictions.

More of them, perhaps, than have returned to the Dominion in any one of the past ten years, will fly back into Canada next Spring, because regulations are more strict in the Southern and United States than ever before.

Even Mexico has moved to protect the game birds with new shooting laws and, given the same "break" they had last year in comparatively poor hunting weather, the ducks will have an even better chance of escaping shotgun shells.

BIGGER SURPLUS
"Canada has arranged to allow more ducks to come to our wintering grounds and for our part we shall see that more ducks go back to Canada next Spring," said Dr. I. N. Gabrielson, chief of the United States Biological Survey, tonight.

"We likely will have a bigger surplus of birds after this hunting season than we did last year," he added. "American sportsmen are accepting restrictions with good grace. They are gratified by Canada's action to reduce shooting in the provinces this year."

Canavass, redhead ducks and Atlantic brant are protected by a law in the United States which limits this year and most regulations adopted in 1935 are retained.

Canada has reduced its season to two months, from the first of September to the first of November. The United States daily bag limit is ten ducks and four geese.

The Canadian bag limit has been set at twelve ducks and five geese a day, with a seasonal limit of 150 ducks and fifty geese. The United States daily bag limit is ten ducks and four geese.

The New York commission has done many fine things like this for golfers in the state.

At Jones Beach you can rent a maul, putter, ball and a pair of soft-soled shoes for fifty cents per round. All the holes are par threes, the longest being sixty yards.

There are water hazards and sand traps to keep you from just rolling the ball around. In fact, some of the tee shots call for plenty of skill in the way of lofting the ball and giving it enough backspin to hold the small greens.

Men, women, children, players of all ages enjoy this course. It isn't what used to be called miniature golf, this is a regular course on a small scale and it helps your game no end.

THE TUTTS ... By Crawford Young

GIVES REPORT ON CHICAGO MEETING

A report on a meeting of the Canadian advisory committee of Rotary International held recently in Chicago was given to members of the Rotary Club at luncheon yesterday in the Empress Hotel by Percy B. Scurrell, British Columbia representative on the committee.

Mr. Scurrell told the members the committee had discussed three measures for Canadian Rotary clubs to work on during the coming months. A committee, he said, will be organized to study Canadian naturalization laws and will, on completion of the study, direct a drive to have suitable aliens adopt Canadian citizenship. Mr. Scurrell said that the question of "outpost" members and the need of smaller clubs having better programmes was discussed.

Doctor: "How's this? I distinctly told you to knock off drink." Festive Villager: "It's that there medicine as did it, sir. After takin' of it, I felt so terribly well I ad to celebrate."

Jane Dixon Says:

ROUND-UP DAY PROBLEMS: THE WOMAN WHOSE HUSBAND WANTS A DIVORCE AFTER ELEVEN YEARS OF UNFAITHFULNESS—A MOTHER WITH INSUFFICIENT FUNDS SEEKS A COLLEGE EDUCATION—TWO GIRLS AND UNREQUITED LOVE

We've come to our round-up, so let's drive all the troubles into the corral and see what we can do for them.

F.M.S.: Your husband has been carrying on an extra-marital affair for eleven years. There is a three-year-old child of this liaison. Ten years ago, when you discovered his unfaithfulness, you offered to release him and obtain a divorce. He refused. Then, when the child came, he tried to "get something on you" so he could obtain the divorce. You suffer with a dangerous disease and believe your husband does not want you cured, hoping his death will solve his problem. You are in "slurs," neglect and humiliation. There are no children of your union. In a distant city there is a chance of a cure for your malady. Should you leave your husband and take this chance? Your friends say you'd be foolish. You think otherwise.

Follow your own thought. Take your chance for recovery. If your husband will make suitable provision for you under the circumstances of ill health, turn him over to the other woman and the child. Surely there can be no joy for you in holding to his marriage contract a man who slurs, neglects and humiliates you and who would regard your death as a deliverance rather than a sorrow. You look very attractive in your picture, and life should be no means better for you. It's time to forget about the other woman and him for a while and think of yourself.

Polly: Letters are answered in order of their receipt. Others as urgent as yours arrived earlier and had to be answered in accordance with this rule.

Mrs. C.M.: Hundreds of mothers and ambitious students, too, write me the same question—how to obtain a college education when there is no money to finance such an ambition? You can readily understand that to find scholarships for so many struggling young students would be beyond the possibility of this column.

Go to the head of the Board of Education in your district and ask him for a list of colleges that provide free scholarships and for the requirements for winning one of them. If there is a small college near by, get in touch with the secretary and inquire if there is an opening for a girl student who wants to work her way through. Don't stop until you have searched every known avenue for a way to realize your hope, and even when you've tried them all, look for new and unexplored ones.

S.V.C.: I do not know the rules governing the conduct of WPA workers, but the incident you mentioned sounds most unreasonable. However, if the woman in charge has orders, it is her duty to abide by them, as it is your duty to obey them.

A.W.: Cheerful persons who are interesting to others and interested in others are sure to be popular. It seems to me that at eighteen you are old enough to go to places of amusement such as you mention with your young friends. Perhaps you've grown shy and self-conscious from lack of contact with those your own age. The young man who "takes another girl out three or four times a week, never calls on you or escorts you places, and turns from you in company," does not love you. There is no way to force a man whose interests are elsewhere to love you. Try to develop yourself, to be more attractive in appearance, more lively, more alert to go places and do things. That way leads to popularity.

V.: Go to the Polish consulate in your city and ask for a list of Polish-American lawyers.

Uncertain: The seventeen-year-old boy is very young, and it is his privilege to see something of life and to enjoy sports and an assortment of friends. You want me to help you engulf him in a serious love affair when he has shown you frankly he is not ready for it. He seems like a sensible, understanding, ambitious boy to me. But he's only a schoolboy. Give him time to grow up. Treat him like a good comrade, and leave the heavy sentiment out of it for awhile.

PATRIOT DIES BEFORE HONOR

Liverpool Philanthropist Dies Just Before Laying Foundation Stone

LIVERPOOL, Eng. Aug. 27 (P.).—A few hours before he was to have laid the foundation stone of a new library at Liverpool University, for the erection of which he had offered $500,000, Harold L. Cohen, famous Liverpool philanthropist, died at his son's home at Neston, Wirral.

Mr. Cohen traveled from London to attend the ceremony and to receive the honorary degree of LL.D. of Liverpool University. Both ceremonies were postponed. He was taken suddenly ill during the night and died from heart failure.

OFFERED LARGE SUM

In a letter to Lord Derby, who was to have presided at the ceremony, Mr. Cohen offered him, as chancellor of the university, $500,000 for the new library as an opportunity of expressing his and his family's gratitude for "so many kindnesses from our fellow citizens."

The news of his death has given me a great shock, coming on the very morning of the day the university was about to pay him the greatest honor it can—that of giving him an honorary degree," Lord Derby said. "He was a great benefactor, not only to the university, but to very many other deserving institutions in Liverpool."

Mr. Cohen was sixty-three years old and lived at Palace Green, Kensington, W. and Barwythe, near Dunstable. He leaves a widow, one son and three daughters.

ANCIENT CHURCH CLOCK TICKS ON

Set Century Ago to Remind Long-Talking Preacher When Time Was Up

HALIFAX, Aug. 27 (P.).—A clock set a century ago in St. George's, the "round church" of Halifax, to remind a loquacious minister that time was fleeting, still ticks gravely from a gallery facing the pulpit.

The clock was placed there by some of the church's Anglican congregation who believed Rev. R. F. Uniake was prone to forget all about time when he set out on a theological discourse.

And it still ticks away, timing the sermons of Old St. George's present rector, Canon H. W. Cunningham. To the knowledge of Canon Cunningham, the clock has run continuously from the time it was first set except for a short time following the Halifax explosion when services were discontinued.

St. George's is the second oldest Anglican Church in Halifax, having been built 135 years ago in supplement St. Paul's when the city expanded northward.

HOW IT STARTED

By JEAN NEWTON

RESOURCE

What are resources? Money? Stocks and bonds? Real estate?

The other day, there came out of New Jersey the story of a man who, penniless, took a four-acre dump, a mosquito-infested, reptile-infested swamp, full of stinging insects, underbrush, broken concrete, along with other dregs of civilization, and out of this immediate environment, he built himself a "Depression Palace"—a home that would do credit to a contractor and a gang of skilled workmen, meanwhile living like a king.

Let this living prototype of Barrires Admirable Crichton tell his own story.

"The place was constructed absolutely without money, plans or outside assistance. After three years of hard labor, the four acres have been transformed into a beautiful lawn, with a stream of water. It required tremendous ambition, patience and endurance to do what I did, but it gave me peace of mind, happiness and a sense of security. What I did is what our pioneer fathers did as a matter of course and our children have to do again. Our only unavailable wealth lies in our selves."

This is the meat and the meaning of "resource," which derives from the Old French verb resource, to strengthen. All else is a house of cards.
